[Application of a new nomogram in predicting the prognosis of patients with non-muscle invasive bladder cancer treated with intravesical bacillus Calmette-Guerin immunotherapy]. To validate the prognostic value of nomogram in predicting the recurrence and progression of non-muscle invasive bladder cancer (NMIBC) after intravesical bacillus Calmette-Guerin (BCG) immunotherapy. A total of 203 NMIBC patients were divided into a validation group and a test group according to their clinical data. The nomogram-predicted 1-, 3-, and 5-year recurrence-free survival

(RFS) rate, progression-free survival (PFS) rate, and overall survival (OS) rate were calculated, and the validation group was compared with the test group for statistical differences. The nomogram predicted the 1-, 3-, and 5-year RFS rates of 79.37%, 67.79%, and 58.81% in the validation group, which were significantly lower than the results of 90.91%, 86.14%, and 85.81% in the test group (P

This video will describe how to shut down, restart, or logoff a PC with the help of Windows 10 operating system. published:11 Dec 2016 views:2 Checkout my How to fix Windows update error. Facebook: Twitter: The Windows 10 automatic updates, often include updates to the OS, which results in an error in Windows update. While many users have reported that the error only happens in the first few days of installing the OS, it is also possible that the errors in the Windows update time also vary on each individual basis. The fix for this is very easy. First we will wrap the update process for Windows with a label. Because if we simply terminate the process without this label, then we will not be updating properly. Then after updating, we will uninstall the updates until we are completely on the latest version of Windows. Then after that, we will redo every process from the beginning until the end in order to see if that is when we got the error. G.A.P.S: Keep in mind that once the update has been released, you will need to download the latest Windows 10 ISO, upgrade with the release and then use WinCustomize to install the new version. published:14 Jan 2017 views:3754 All you need to update Windows 10 computers remotely In the past, the only way to update a Windows 10 PC remotely was to physically travel to the device and update it. Now, Microsoft has released a tool on its website with which users can remotely update their Windows 10 devices. The online tool is designed to simplify and ease the process of keeping PCs up-to-date. But how is the new tool different and what are its best features? Computer power and internet connection is required to update PCs. But the new tool is designed at making the whole process easier by making it a one-click update. By this, we mean that the tool automatically connects to the nearest Microsoft server to download the latest version of the operating system. After the process is complete, the tool connects the device to the Internet to apply the latest security patches. In the end, it closes everything for you. We hope you liked this video.
