State of Decay 2 - what's new in the v2.0 update? Dec 27, 2018 .Home / National News / President Trump faces deep concerns over border wall after budget request President Trump faces deep concerns over border wall after budget request June 19, 2018 (WASHINGTON, DC) — President Trump today faces one of the biggest hurdles to his wall with Mexico. This week, the government's fiscal year ends, and the president's budget request calls for eliminating the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) and most other federal agencies. "Ending DHS would be a tragedy," said JJ MacNab, legislative representative at the Federation for American Immigration Reform (FAIR). "Congress should not reduce DHS's ability to secure the nation's borders." MacNab added that the budget request would be "an irresponsible act of fiscal irresponsibility." DHS includes almost one-third of the entire U.S. federal government in its budget, with nearly 10,000 full-time employees. "DHS is indispensable to the U.S. government's security and a crucial value provider to our economy," MacNab said. President Trump in his 2018 budget requests a reduction of the federal budget by more than 3% and $6 billion for the wall. MacNab pointed out that much of DHS's border security mission is performed under the auspices of the U.S
