Nowadays, the total weight of each item is of paramount importance for carriers. The weight of the goods (cargo) transported is a key element in the cost of transportation. However, automatic indicators are not used to measure the weight of the goods because it is the task of people to carry the load out of the container, place it on the scale, start the scale, record the weight and the human factor during the process often causes mistakes. Weighbridge Software is the solution to this problem. Our purpose is to help carriers to take full control over the weighbridge instruments. Weighbridge Software is a useful tool that helps you carry out the weight of a range of different goods and carry them to the required location. The application is available as a COM port based application. You can use the weight of vehicles to estimate the weight of the cargo they carry. This allows you to measure the weight of the cargo and calculate the expenses. Additionally, the application provides a dashboard, which includes simple and quick access to the weight values and enables you to generate reports. Thanks to the automatic indicator, you can easily measure the weight of numerous products at once. The application is fully portable, as it does not require any kind of configuration. Manage customers and suppliers The application can keep track of all the customers and suppliers, storing their contact details (address, phone numbers, website). Moreover, it can record information concerning vehicles, the corresponding tare weights and the names of the drivers, as well as product prices, type, measurement units and quantities, making it easier for you to select the desired information when completing a form. Its main window comprises accessible options, enabling you to specify the name of the customer and the vehicle, the name of the item, the payment mode and other similar details. For each weighing operation, a new ticket is created. Weighbridge Software Description: Nowadays, the total weight of each item is of paramount importance for carriers.
