Size Distribution and Antibacterial Activity of Gold Nanorods of Different Lengths. Gold nanorods with different lengths of 5-40 nm were prepared by reduction of tetrachloroauric acid by hydrazine hydrate, and their antibacterial activity was tested against Gram-negative and Gram-positive bacteria. Results show that the as-prepared nanorods have good antibacterial activity. Gold nanorods with the length of 15-20 nm show the best antibacterial activity. Gold nanorods with the length of 25-40 nm show a little lower antibacterial activity than that of 15-20 nm ones. The antibacterial activity of gold nanorods is related to the length of gold nanorods. Vaughan Thompson admits he didn't think much about the countdown to his Hall of Fame induction. The 94th men's basketball inductee enters the building on Sunday as a finalist for the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame — and his influence already is being felt across the college basketball landscape. Thompson's stock is rising, and as it climbs up the ladder, he's been using his unprecedented oversight role in pushing others to the same elevation. Thompson is currently an assistant at Stony Brook. The captain of the 1992 title-winning team is helping recruit Stony Brook to the ACAC in a move that would take the Seawolves to the highest-level conference, and increase the school's fan base significantly, beginning next fall. "Coach Broghamer is very proactive, and I was talking to him the other day and he mentioned he was looking at the school," Thompson said. "And I told him I just went to visit and I was really impressed with the school and everything. I think coach Broghamer is a quality person, and he obviously knows what he is talking about. He obviously has been successful, and a lot of the things that he did at North Carolina, those are the kind of things that I'm sure he implemented at Stony Brook. "The one thing that I noticed is the attendance, the number of people who came to every game and every practice. That's a far cry from North Carolina. I was at a Stony Brook game, and it was packed. Inhibition of calpain activity by a water-soluble peptide derived from the active domain of the mu-calpain inhibitor. Calpain is a Ca²⁺-dependent protease with broad specificity for cytoskeletal proteins. The four subunits of calpain are called mu-, m-, mu-calpain inhibitor or beta-calpain inhibitor and m-calpain inhibitor. The present study shows that a water-soluble peptide from the active domain of mu-calpain inhibitor inhibited calpain activity in various cell lines. The active peptide itself did not show any inhibitory activity and the four subunits of calpain were not co-precipitated with the inhibitory peptide. Polyacrylamide gel electrophoresis on SDS-containing samples showed that the inhibitory peptide induced an increased amount of the slowest migrating calpain subunit in several cell lines. The inhibitory peptide was not a substrate for calpain and there was no cross-reaction between the inhibitory peptide and the binding domain of mu-calpain inhibitor. This water-soluble inhibitory peptide may be useful for in vitro and in vivo analysis of calpain activity and modulation of calpain-mediated degradation.
