"Cooking up a cake while in the middle of a construction site is not a good idea." "Or is it?" Bang Fruit is a side-scrolling game about crafting cakes that use the fruits you collect to cook unique dishes. In Bang Fruit there are 3 different worlds with beautiful art in every level. In every World there are three goals that must be accomplished to advance to the next world. It is easy to get confused when a level is initially difficult, so if you get confused, press the Escape key to return to the main menu and restart the level. The player controls a chef and he/she moves with the arrow keys. The player can move from left to right on the same level. If the player cannot go forward, the player can use the spacebar to jump and continue his/her movement, or there is a button on the keyboard of a trapped player that can be used to go back a level. However, if you just want to see some beautiful texture art, just select the "Switch to Texture View" button in the main menu. Have fun playing! - This is the "Early Access" version of the game with a total of 20 levels. I want to thank you for choosing my game to play, and I really hope you enjoy it! To get more information about the game or to leave a tip if you liked my game, please visit the "T" icon on the main menu. Thank you, Celestial Ragnarok (TIGER CODER) Other links: [Website] [Facebook] Use your brain and make your way through Level 1! To pass the next levels, you will have to make your way through various doors on the screen and solve puzzles. Help Bubbles out of the water and make him swim to the left of the screen to clear the way. Find a way out of each level and you should make it to the finish. If you get stuck, remember to tap the spacebar to jump and continue. But don't forget to find the stairs hidden in the water because they are important. Easy, right? In this Virtual Field Guide to our natural parks and public lands, we'll take you on a guided hiking adventure with facts about

Mid-week Social Do you know the difference between Brazilians and Venezuelans? If you ask, many Brazilians will say that Venezuelans are not mad, like you might say that other people in town are speaking German or French. Not really, are they mad? Of course they are! Kitty K was already missing her dad when he left Venezuela last year to live in Brazil. Luckily, he brought her and her mom all of his favorite Venezuelan food like queso (cheese) and guaco (kid's cereals). The first time that a Brazilian was asked about what they ate in Venezuela, the answer was so bizarrely correct that the person telling the story just started laughing, and the joke spread out. Well, time to get this party started! We're making some guac,cheese and cachaça! Not a lot of days left before we're back to school, it's too crazy! We are making some plans to make the few days before going back to school even crazier. To do that we decided to have a party, with a guest that will be the devil himself. Long story short: this party is gonna be all day, all night... Full of parties... and exclusive offered nights... What was once a quiet little cobblestone street in South America is now bustling with foot traffic and the stench of intoxicants. The whole "Peruvian Ciclovias" movement is more than a great way to get off the couch and exercise your legs; it has grown into a cultural phenomenon where locals and foreigners come out and get to know each other as they take their places in cafés

After completing the tutorial, players need to collect the tile pieces on the board and place them in the puzzle sets to earn points for the game. When a puzzle is complete, the player will then select the next one with the help of the in-game tutorial. The in-game tutorial will lead players through the beginning of the game and the scoring system. The game comes with a set of reusable tile pieces so players can choose the ones they like and simply move the tiles in the puzzle board to one position to start a new puzzle. No two games will ever play the same as tiles are laid out randomly when you play. Great features such as a built-in tutorial, scoring system, cute sound effects and relaxing music adds to the fun. Please note that some free to play games may require payment or purchase to further enjoy some features. Donkey Kong Country - Adventure TimeS, a 2D arcade platformer set in a unique world of side-scrolling action-adventure game play, sees players take control of the comedic and colourful hero, Finn, to seek revenge on the evil King K. Rool. In an epic, storyline driven adventure, players will need to traverse traps, collect golden coins and avoid hazardous obstacles as they do battle with K. Rool and his henchmen, through a series of levels, to ultimately reach the source of the evil that threatens the Land of Ooo. Games like this make Kong a bit of a girlie person! (Not as much as I am in real life but you get the picture). Donkey KongCountry - Adventure Time is a new entry in the DKC series and it is set in the Land of Ooo, a fictional country which is described as Ooo?s lively country side. It is well known for its diverse, vibrant cultures and unique, folk-art styles. The main playable character of the game is Finn, an 11-year old "wise-cracking, adventure-loving, world-hopping savoir-faire", that has the ability to turn into a porcupine named Porcupine McPorp. He is the standard-bearer and the last hope for the Land of Ooo?s future, after his best friend and adopted brother, Crash Bandicoot was banished to space by K. Rool and turned into a Dog. Finn must traverse traps, collect golden coins and avoid hazardous obstacles as he does battle with K. Rool and his henchmen, through
