Solarwinds also releases its own database for ERP and Network Management, as well as Dynamic Discovery for Enterprise: Discovery System Introduction In an era of heightened security awareness and Cyberthreats, organizations are turning to network visibility to evaluate their applications in order to ensure availability and security. This is especially critical for organizations with critical applications such as their ERP systems or Network Management (NM) systems. SolarWinds ITM provides SolarWinds administrators a complete network visibility solution with its Dynamic Discovery for Enterprise

(DDE) technology. Dynamic Discovery for Enterprise (DDE) is a framework to maintain an up-to-date view of your enterprise application's topology, configuration, and performance from a single console. Integration with SolarWinds Monitoring Integrated with SolarWinds Network Monitor, ITM collects information from dynamic discovery data to provide a full set of Application, Network and Security monitoring for the SolarWinds Network Manager Suite. DDE data is collected from SolarWinds MIBs and reports is available in graphing, table, and XML formats. Dynamic Discovery for Enterprise gives you instant, live access to a full view of the in-depth application monitoring information in the SolarWinds Network Monitor Suite. That makes it a critical addition to a business continuity plan. The T-SQL commands below will show you how to setup and run dynamic discovery in your Oracle databases using SolarWinds Dynamic Discovery Manager (SDDM).

Tip: You can use these commands as a template to make your own dynamic discovery script. T-SQL queries for setting up and running Dynamic Discovery in Oracle T-SQL output for running the dynamic discovery job in Oracle.
