SESAM DNV RELEASE. By combining our resources we have created a design software package that provides better design solutions thanÄ. DNV SESAM. This DNV can provide independent verification of your project drawings in addition to. Ä PROVISIONAL PROOFÄ. Q: How to send an email from the command line using sed or awk or anything similar? Is there any way to print out the email address of a user which I have the username and password of using Linux? A: If you want to do this in the shell script, there are better ways to do it... this is the old way though. $ egrep -o '\b([a-z]+@[a-z]+\.)\.com' Q: Storing a list of permissions in a string: Which best practices, performance wise? I have a class called User that has a property called Permissions. I don't use the string directly, but rather need to combine it into a comma separated list of permissions using: string permissions = string.Join(",", user.Permissions.Select(permission => permission.Key)); To apply the permissions to a resource I have to use a rather large helper function that recursively applies the permissions: Resource permissions_subscription(Resource resource) { if (resource.Permissions == null || resource.Permissions.Count == 0) { return resource; } else { return permissions_subscription(resource.Permissions.Where(permission => permission.Key!= "Read").ToList()); } } Which results in about 12 permission checks (of various types) per resource. I'm not a big fan of that, and am wondering if a different approach would be
