Q: How to generate/capture a list of files in a directory? I have a directory that has multiple sub-directories containing multiple.db files. I need to generate a list of the filenames in all of the sub-directories as text and capture it into a variable. Right now I'm testing with a file called DirectoryList.txt in the same directory with this: `dir /s c:\Users\Administrator\Desktop\TestFolder` which works great. I'm trying to convert this to work with multiple sub-directories. I've tried: `For /D %* in ("*") do dir /s /b c:\Users\Administrator\Desktop\TestFolder\%*G` and `For /D %G in (c:\Users\Administrator\Desktop\TestFolder) do dir /s /b c:\Users\Administrator\Desktop\TestFolder\%G` but neither worked. Is there a way to do this? A: `cd /d c:\Users\Administrator\Desktop\TestFolder for /f "tokens=1" delims=" %G in ('dir /b /a-d') do @echo %*G` The American Civil Liberties Union is calling on the federal government to end its "indefensible" policy of separating migrant children from their parents who cross the border illegally, after a 20-year-old man was arrested this week while walking along a beach in California with his toddler son, claiming the child's mother had been deported. The 20-year-old man was arrested by San Francisco Bay area police on Monday. The next day, the toddler was taken into the custody of the United States Department of Health and Human Services, which has in the past placed children with parents who crossed the border without authorization into its Office of Refugee Resettlement. Advertisement: According to the ACLU, a police report obtained by the newspaper The Mercury News indicates that the man told authorities "he was dropped off near Sunset Beach with a toddler boy last Wednesday at about 1:30 p.m." and was "was arrested at 11:51 a.m. on Saturday for being a pedestrian on the beach.... He was searched, and was found to be in possession of an address list, which he said was from his girlfriend, who had been deported," the

About It had been a relatively smooth transition from college football to the NFL. So when the Minnesota Vikings selected defensive end Everson Griffen with the second overall pick of the 2011 NFL Draft, most people expected him to make a big, immediate impact. Obviously, that didn't happen. Griffen put together just three games of good, steady production in his rookie season. However, he's been improving every year and he has the physical tools to be a dominant pass-rusher. Griffen's technique is actually fairly simple, although mastering it will take time and hard work. He is a fairly stout defensive end that uses his strength and quickness to dominate against the run and set the edge against the pass. It's just that Griffen needs to learn how to use them most effectively. That's what the Vikings have in mind when they're drafting him. His quick feet and powerful lower body will allow him to get to the quarterback. He just needs to learn how to use all that strength and athleticism effectively.[Bursitis of the gluteus medius muscle and the articulation with the ischium bone]. Bursitis of the gluteus medius muscle is usually connected with musculoskeletal problems at the hip. It can be seen in purely mechanical pathological processes, such as Osgood-Schlatter disease or Haglund's syndrome or in cases of rheumatic diseases. For many years the first condition was thought to be the leading cause. If this diagnosis is made early, however, treatment is fast, effective and most simple. If the diagnosis is delayed, the treatment is more difficult and sometimes ineffective. The patients with pain in the hip region usually suffer from overuse of the hip joint. They have to stand or walk for a long time and most of them have a hard and uncomfortable life style. It is the goal of this report to give some instructions to doctors on how to recognise and treat this rheumatic disease. We will go through the clinical signs and the laboratory and radiographic findings. Then, we will point out the classical treatment modalities for this disease.Q: Android push notification - not the firebase function that should be called but it seems to be calling my server directly, not the firebase function I know this question has been asked before, but none of the answers I can find seem to work for me.
