Chris Rub is a freelance writer specializing in iOS games and a former editor at G3 Magazine. You can find him on Twitter @rubchris. Firaxis Interactive has announced a new PlayStation 3 and Xbox 360 version of XCOM: Enemy Unknown, now known as XCOM 2. There's no word on a release window, but XCOM 2 will be made available on the Xbox 360 on June 18th, while the PS3 version will appear on June 25th. In XCOM 2, you once again control a squad of soldiers, taking on turn-based missions while trying to thwart the plans of a mysterious enemy known as the The Overmind. New squad members can be recruited by using in-game currency, while those familiar to the original game will be able to upgrade their weapons and armor. Finally, Firaxis announced that they're expanding the capabilities of the Board Game Arena to allow for two-player online play with friends. The PSP version of XCOM 2 will also feature a new "social team," in which the player can watch his or her comrades play from the sidelines, using the PSP's WiFi connection to maintain the connection. "XCOM: Enemy Unknown was our second-ever release on a console, and we want it to be the best console experience possible," said Jake Solomon, co-founder of Firaxis Games. "XCOM 2 brings the same sophisticated and deeply tactical combat that has defined the series to a brand new console generation, but now in a new and upgraded version. The console experience will be as innovative and exclusive as XCOM's been on previous generations, and we think that fans of the series are going to be amazed by the changes we've made." Next week, a new 10-player co-op mode will be available to XCOM 2 players, while a new "Arena-style" map will be available for players to try out with friends on their PSPs and PSP Minis. The new map will be a "scavenger-hunt style" on a new alien planet, and will release on August 4th. "XCOM 2 on the PSP is the perfect portable title, and our new friends at the Housemarque team have given the game such a great look," said Sam Smith, co-founder of Firaxis Games. "We have also redesigned every inch of the game from the core, bringing on new systems and giving the team the freedom to explore new ideas. We'd like to thank the team for their hard bff6bb2d33

The invention relates generally to a method of determining and/or controlling the valve timing, preferably for an internal combustion engine of a motor vehicle. The valve timing of an internal combustion engine may be referred to as a setpoint valve timing. During operation of the engine, the valve timing is preferably determined as a current valve timing and/or control variable, which is monitored and/or controlled on the basis of a predefined setpoint valve timing. Since a current valve timing may be dependent on a multitude of influencing parameters, which may be poorly controllable or may change in a stochastic manner, the valve timing may deviate from a setpoint valve timing. A valve timing device with an adjustable valve timing is known from German Published Patent Application No. 198 02 247. The valve timing device is a continuously variable valve timing (CVT) device, which is connected to a camshaft of an internal combustion engine. A camshaft adjuster for adjusting the valve timing is connected to the valve timing device. The camshaft adjuster has a first axial region, which is to be accommodated in the camshaft, and a second axial region, which is fixed in the camshaft. Thus, the camshaft adjuster may be used to axially adjust the valve timing device relative to the camshaft. When the camshaft adjuster is provided as a claw adjuster, the shape of the claw adjuster may be configured such that axial adjustment of the claw adjuster and thus the valve timing device relative to the camshaft is possible. During the operation of the internal combustion engine, the valve timing device may be controlled or monitored as a control variable. The control variable is influenced by the operating condition of the internal combustion engine. The valve timing device may be controlled or monitored in a cylinder-specific manner and/or

Role of glycolysis in regulating cancer cell apoptosis. It was previously reported that apoptosis is controlled by energy metabolism in cancer cells and that glucose starvation (GS) induces apoptosis in many cancer cell types through a mechanism that is mediated by the increase in intracellular reactive oxygen species (ROS). In this study, we found that 3-bromopyruvate (3BP), an inhibitor of glycoly
