Is that correct? A: It could be I was acquainted with a (very) funny friend or I was acquainted with a funny friend In any case, the word

"was" is a little unusual here. "Was" could be better as "used to be" or "used to have been" in a similar sentence. I was acquainted with a funny friend used to be one. Q: Proving that a/2 is irrational I'm just looking for a little bit of help proving that \$a/2\$ is irrational. I've tried to prove by contradiction and used the following logic: Suppose \$a/2\$ is rational. So, a/2=q/p. To prove that a/2 is irrational, suppose, a/2 is irrational. So,  $a=2 \cdot d$ . Thus, a/2=q/p\$. So, p\$ divides both \$a\$ and \$q\$. Contradiction. I've also tried multiplying both sides by \$2\$, i.e,  $a/2=2 \cot q/2$ , and then subtracting \$1/2\$ from both sides, but it hasn't led to anything fruitful. Is there any easier way to do this? A: Hint: If a=pq, then 2q=(p+q)/2 and q is an even number. Q: How to resolve an EOFException when reading from a file using the Scanner I'm trying to read in from an input file.
