Despite the relatively low complication rates associated with endovascular treatment for intracranial aneurysms, complications should always be anticipated and actively managed. Major complications associated with endovascular therapy for intracranial aneurysms include permanent neurological deficit, vascular complications, and death. Permanent neurological deficit represents failure of endovascular therapy for an intracranial aneurysm and is defined as neurological dysfunction from a stroke or subarachnoid hemorrhage associated with persistent aneurysmal hemorrhage or thromboembolism. The most common complication is transient ischemic attack (TIA). Vascular complications can have devastating consequences and include retroperitoneal hematoma, retroperitoneal hemorrhage, abdominal aortic aneurysm rupture, pseudoaneurysm, visceral, or spinal artery ischemia and hemorrhage. There is a significant risk for these complications during and after endovascular intervention for intracranial aneurysms. The most common complications of endovascular therapy for intracran

The Hoplites emerged in 6th century BC Greece in the wake of the Persian invasion. Largely adopted by the Eastern Mediterranean states, the Hoplites were originally used as both light cavalry and pike phalanx infantry in the battlefields of the era. The extensive training and weapon load carried by these men during the combined arms tactics of the Greek phalanx led to an unparalleled fear and respect of the Hoplite, cementing his place in Greek history. The force has a total of 4 maps but if you are having problems on 1 map then download the rest from the links at the bottom. If the map you need is not listed in the download section just write to us and we will try to help you. Each map has a number of regions which are slightly different to all others on the map, if you want a map where all regions are the same, try O.E.L. The commanders in the game are Alexander the Great, Alexander the Great II, and Cleopatra VII. The units available are: Pikephalanx (type 10) Darius Cavalry (type 4) Xerxes Cavalry (type 4) Peltast (type 2) Hoplite (type 1) Phalanx (type 1) Camelry (type 0) These are the types of units each type has: Type No of Units Pikephalanx 1 pike 1 pike 2 pike 2 pike 1 pike 4 pike 1 pike 1 pike 1 pike Hoplite 1 shield 2 shield 1 shield 1 shield 1 shield Camelry 1 lance 2 lance 1 lance 1 lance 2 lance Peltast 1

What's new in Hoplichess:

Tuesday, January 30, 2008 I received an interesting email today. I'll transcribe it from the text here so as not to spoil it for the recipient. All kidding aside, I think the author does a very good job. I just wish I wrote a book as well. It would be called "Protocol 1000". The Essentials: 2. Be bold and fearless. Don't ever let a feeling that you're a weak point stop you. Just be yourself and be ready to act. 3. Be ready to lose your cool. There is no room for dillydallying or hesitation. If confronted, protect your own ass and don't mind if other people aren't prepared for your brashness or temper. Remember that it is your responsibility to keep your leadership up to speed as well. the rest is taken care of, it's up to you to take charge. 4. Decide right away. Don't wait for over 10 minutes of indecision. Attack the matter like a bull in a china shop. 5. Be a place shifter: Know where the hotspots are, and make sure you are there whenever someone questions the status quo. Make it a point to know what needs to be fixed, under whose supervision, who is responsible for what etc. And never ever turn your back on any of this. You cannot afford to get complacent or lulled into a sense of false security. 6. Stop doing the side-chase: You're not on the street. Stop looking for a way to reduce the load. I'm sure I would tell you about the one who shall not be named but just take my word for it, you haven't been doing a sufficient job so far. Your job is to make sure all things are running smoothly. The Golf Cliff It's called a golf cliff for a reason. When you hit a sand trap there's a really long slope where you drop in one swoop or in many quick stages until you're back in the fairway. For some reason, however, Golfers seem to have adapted that to a "traffic" cliff. When you come to a slow traffic Jam, all the other cars start letting off their speed. And some of them start to even let off their gas. Stop and go technique is just that. But some people forget they just had to slow down to begin with, and just never pick up their pace. It's just like driving through New York City
